COLLECTORS NEEDED FOR FUND DRIVE

What Is the Money For?

We have been asked many questions in the past few weeks about our fund drive, but the one that stands out is: "Precisely what will the money raised in our fund drive be used for?" Obviously some of the money will be needed to pay off old debts. But this is not our major objective. Our real goal is to produce a 4-page newspaper each week, regardless of the ups and downs of advertising income.

At present, when advertising income is insufficient to pay the costs of publishing a 4-page newspaper, our budget demands the switch to a 2-page newspaper. But sometimes we feel that the demand for coverage of important local happenings makes a 4-page newspaper a community necessity. On these occasions, we go into the red, regardless of the amount of advertising.

Furthermore, switching to a 2-page newspaper is not in itself a guarantee of remaining out of the red. Because of certain fixed costs, a 2-page newspaper requires proportionately more advertising to pay for itself than does a 4-page paper. In fact, a 2-page paper needs one full page of advertising if it is merely to break even. Many times we have published a 2-page paper with less than this break-even amount of advertising.

A 2-page paper also has the obvious disadvantage that the amount of space available for news stories is severely restricted. Much church news and club news and other events of local interest must often be omitted. Such omissions create in themselves a new problem beyond our financial difficulties - a problem in public relations.

As many of our readers will doubtless remember, we have, from time to time, urged our local organizations to submit news to us of their activities. They have been most generous as a rule, in responding to this request. But when they do so - and sometimes they go to great efforts to do so - they feel discouraged - to say the least - when their stories do not appear in print. We know, because they have not hesitated to call and tell us. It is hardly to be wondered at that the next time they don't bother to submit news of their activities. For us this is a catastrophe. When our source of news dries up, we find it exceedingly difficult to set them flowing again. The paper, the organizations involved - indeed, the whole community - suffer from the resulting lack of information.

At the technical level, the problems created by fluctuations in advertising are even greater. We seldom know, from one week to the other, how many pages to plan or how much news copy will be needed. Suppose we plan on two pages, chopping our news coverage to the barest rudiments, omitting by-lines, and cramming our headlines into one line of type. What do we do when suddenly some unexpected advertising comes in, forcing us to expand to four pages? Now we lack enough news to fill up the newly created space. Yet, on the other hand, when we plan on four pages and find that the anticipated advertising does not arrive, we must suddenly shrink to two pages, unable to use much of the news copy which we have prepared. (This, by the way, imposes an extra expense, since it costs money to prepare copy, whether we use it or not.) Thus each week we face a recurring dilemma: shall we take a chance and prepare enough news to fill a 2-pager, knowing that if we have to expand to four pages we'll be stuck without real news to fill it up, forced to use filler material that none of our readers care to read?

In short then, the money will primarily be used to set up a revolving fund which will enable us to stabilize our operations by putting out a 4-pager each week (or as often as possible depending upon how much money we raise), regardless of the amount of advertising income. We are convinced that this will result in a better newspaper, one which will regularly carry stories of local activities and one which will truly serve the demands for information in our expanding community.

Baptist Special Service

Music will play a major part during the Special Services to be held in the new Greenbelt Baptist Church beginning Sunday, April 12. Solos, duets, trios, quartet, and instrumental music will be featured. A voluntary choir will sing every evening during the two weeks of meetings. Mrs. Sue David is in charge of the musical arrangements.

Dr. James T. McCarl and C. T. David will lead the inspirational song services prior to the messages to be given by Chaplain Wallace M. Hale, Director of the Policies and Personnel Division, Office Chief of Chaplains, U. S. Army. Mrs. Leta Oleksak and Mrs. Betty McCarl will serve as pianists.

Nurseries will be opened under competent care each evening so that parents will be able to attend the services. Chaplain Hale will be speaking to several Sunday School departments starting at 9:45 a.m. He will preach during the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. worship services. The services on the week nights begin at 7:45 p.m.

Local Cancer Drive

The annual cancer drive will take place in Greenbelt on Sunday, April 26. Films concerning cancer, "The Warning Shadow" and "Another City," will be shown on Wednesday, April 22 at 8 p.m. at the Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church. Following the presentation of these films, a medical doctor present will answer questions. Miss Edna Dorsey, area chairman, will also be present at that time.

Workers are still needed to assist in this drive. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Isidore Rosen, Captain for the Greenbelt area, at 7781 or Mrs. J. R. Hoffman, co-captain, at 6465.

LYDIA GUILD DINNER

The Lydia Guild of Greenbelt Lutheran Church, 22-Ridge, will sponsor a family-style dinner at 7 p.m., Friday, April 10, to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the church. A program of entertainment has been planned for the evening.

Court Rules For Pet Owners-AgainstGHI

The long anticipated decision in the hotly contested litigation concerning whether home owners under Greenbelt Homes, Inc., could legally keep pets was handed down yesterday by Judge John B. Gray, Jr. His ruling was in favor of the defendants—that is, the pet owners, against GHI, the plaintiff. The judge's conclusion reads as follows:

The Court concludes that the prohibition of pets is not a valid exercise of the power to regulate as authorized by Sec. 7 (b) and, therefore, it transcended the authority of the corporation, even though it represented the majority sentiment of its members."

In commenting on the decision, Abraham Chasanow, attorney for the defendants, pointed out that inevitable. However, he added, "I sincerely hope that this decision will not lead to abuses by any pet owners, who should remember that they still have a civic responsibility to maintain their pets so as not to constitute a nuisance." GHI could seek an injunction against any member whose pet did constitute a nuisance.

Ed Burgoon, President of GHI, expressed his personal disappointment at the decision. "We have turned the court's ruling over to our legal counsel," he said, "to see what possible action the corporation can yet take in this matter."

The Court also pointed out that the rights of an owner are different than those of a tenant (such as we were under PHA.) The Corporation has no right to prohibit pets but does have the right to go into court to seek an injunction against a member whose pet is a nuisance.

"However, the decision in this case must be predicated not upon the wish of the majority of owners, but upon the rights of the individual defendants and of the corporation representing all of the owners. The defendants are entitled to be protected against any rights, even though supported by most of the Greenbelt owners. There is such a thing as tyranny by the majority."

School Bus Stops

The city manager will meet with school officials to decide on a change in school bus stops for junior high students, after a complaint from the Lutheran Church disclosed that vandalism by waiting students was causing the church much concern. The latest mischief involved the carving of obscene words upon the church entrance doors.

Areas Not Covered Include Apartments, Several Courts

With the kick-off date (April 20) for the News Review fund-raising drive just 11 days off, there are still many areas in town in need of volunteer collectors, according to Mrs. Elaine Skolnik, organizer of the drive.

Police Solve Crime In Record Time

by Russell Greenbaum

The alert Greenbelt Police quickly tracked down juveniles involved in breaking and entering into two Greenbelt residences last week. Two 15-year old local boys were apprehended and held for Juvenile Court after admitting they had entered an apartment on Crescent Road and a home on Westway.

The boys took 17 silver dollars from the apartment and 5 pistols, one of them loaded, & other equipment from the Westway home. The pistols belonged to a gun collector and were registered with the police. All the loot was recovered. The boys made their entries after one of them had observed that the occupants had gone out of town. They claimed that the apartment door was unlocked, but they broke into the Westway home through the window.

The Westway entry was made on April 2 and was reported on April 3 when the family returned home. The police worked through the night and finally cracked the case at five the next morning. Officer Bud Zoellner was the principal investigating officer who solved the case. He was assisted by Officer Joe O'Loughlin who rounded up the stolen goods. His task was complicated by the fact that the boys had distributed the guns to their friends, and two had been taken out of town. Officer O'Loughlin, however, traced them and recovered all of them.

Chief of Police Jim Williams urged residents, when they go out of town for extended periods of time, not only to inform their neighbors but also to notify the police who will then regularly check the homes while the occupants are away. Checks are

The News Review is launching the unprecedented house-to-house appeal for funds in an effort to bolster the paper's financial structure. Advertising revenue in recent months has not been sufficient to pay the costs of publishing the newspaper, and there is little likelihood that future months will see an increase in advertising sufficient to keep the paper out of the red.

Among the courts not covered are 58 and 60 Crescent; 14, 16, 24, 26, 36, 42, 44, 52, 56, 57, 59, 61, 62, and 69 Ridge; 1, 3, 4, 7, 8, and 9 Laurel Hill; 4, 7, 10, and 12 Plateau; 4 and 5 Gardenway; 9 and 11 Southway; 2 and 7 Research; 22 Hillside; Forestway and Woodland Way.

In addition, volunteer collectors are needed for virtually all the apartment dwellings along Parkway and Crescent.

Any person wishing to volunteer his or her services for one of the above areas is asked to contact Mrs. Skolnik at GR 4-6060. "We are hoping to secure one collector for each court," she said. "In this way, no individual collector will be burdened with too many houses to cover."

So far about 60 collectors have volunteered. Instructions regarding the procedures to be followed in the drive, said Mrs. Skolnik, will be mailed next week to each collector.

made at least once a week during the summer vacation season when many are away and more frequently at other times.

Chief Williams reported that as a result of the escape of inmates from Patuxent Institute last week, the police received several calls from residents who thought they saw or heard some sign of the escapees. The police checked out all these calls but found no sign of the escaped men in the area.

Council Overrides Manager's Decisions; Approves Safety Show at Local Theater

by Isadore J. Parker

The Greenbelt theater labor-management dispute projected itself into the city council chambers where it became the issue in a controversy between council members and the city manager, last Monday night. According to James Smith, councilman, who introduced the subject, a safety program for school children scheduled to be held in May at the local movie house was summarily cancelled by city manager Charles T. McDonald because of the pickets. Smith declared the order was a violation of the council's decision to remain neutral and an infringement on the council's responsibility to set policy.

Councilman Alen Kistler declared that he "possibly had something to do with it", disclosing that he had called McDonald and strenuously objected to the use of a strike-bound theater by the city or its personnel. McDonald said he cancelled the program after Kistler and two other citizens called and objected. "I was only trying to keep the city neutral," McDonald stated.

Councilmen Ben Goldfaden and Stan Edwards criticized the judgment of McDonald, asserting that the objections of three citizens should hardly carry enough weight to support such a decision, in view of the population of Greenbelt. "No one councilman should direct the manager . . . this is a matter for the entire council," Goldfaden exclaimed.

The council voted 3-2 to continue the program at the theater until the council decides otherwise, Mayor Tom Canning and Kistler dissenting.

The safety program is being directed by Sgt. Austin Green, and consists of seven events held throughout the community. Two programs have been held in the theater earlier this year. Safety films, a talk by a state trooper and cartoons were scheduled at the theater. Green disclosed that his intent is to bring Greenbelt's safety record, as reviewed by the American Automobile Association, into a higher category. Although Greenbelt scored highly in traffic safety, it was scored low on safety education programs, Green said.

Admission to the theater for the program was free to patrol boys, half price to substitutes and 25 cents for students.

High Point High Points

by Marion Ryss

The Man Who Came To Dinner is the main interest at High Point these days. I am referring, of course, to the play of that name. This year the cast will present this play during the school day as well as at night. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors will have the opportunity to witness the fabulous efforts of their classmates. The price for this afternoon of pleasure is a mere 75c. All those that miss their chance to see the play during the school day and all adults are cordially invited to attend on Friday, and Saturday night, April 10 and 11, at 8:15 p.m. in the High Point Dramatics Room.

The County Science Fair is upon us once more. Everywhere you can see projects being spruced up for their second Science Fair appearance. Don't forget that all projects must be set up by Friday night, April 10. The Fair will be open to the public on Saturday, April 11, at Maryland University.

ARE YOU GOING TO THE BLUE MOON? It's on Saturday, April 12 at High Point.

Baseball is off to a (?) start. The season has been put back a bit, but the following weeks will more than make up for that. On April 13, the "Eagles" will play Bladensburg in an away game. Northwood will be the guests of High Point on April 16 in a home game at 2 p.m. Students are invited to attend this game. See you on the grass . . .

Mitchel Buzin of 6-N Ridge and Tony McCarthy of 6-J Ridge are members of the newly formed Golf Team. Their first game of the year ended in a smashing victory. Greenbelt breeds all kinds of winners.

The High Point Dance Band will entertain the Convention of Student Library Assistants at Maryland University on Tuesday, April 14.

The Band and Glee Club will entertain Buck Lodge and Greenbelt Junior High School on Thursday, April 9. This will be their yearly Feder concert.

With the end of the third grading period on Friday, this week promises to be a hectic one. To recuperate from this ordeal, the teachers have decided to attend their monthly teachers' meetings on Wednesday, April 15. This half day will give all students a splendid opportunity to dig into the piles of work that has been assigned for the next grading period. Like I say, it sure is hard to climb out from under and still sleep nights.

Andros and Bukzin Win in GHI Run-off

In the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. run-off election last Thursday, Elliott Bukzin and Percy Andros were elected to fill the remaining two vacancies on the 9-man board of directors. Andros is an incumbent board member and Bukzin served previously on the board from 1952-55. They now join the 7 candidates elected two weeks ago to put the board at full strength. The organization of the new board and election of board officials will take place at tonight's meeting.

Starting Sunday, April 12th, there'll be a new thrill in store for telephone users. On that memorable day you will be able to dial many of your own Long Distance calls direct. In just a few seconds you will dial direct to any one of 46,000,000 or more telephones in this country and many parts of Canada.

What a convenience it will be to dial station-to-station calls yourself. It's fast and it's easy. Direct Distance Dialing is a new scientific marvel, a historic telephone development. It makes your phone more useful than ever. Remember the date—next Sunday. Be ready to make your first call—to a friend or relative.

THIS DDD DIRECTORY TELLS YOU HOW and where you can dial direct. You will receive a copy in the mail soon. Keep it in your regular telephone directory—you'll find it will come in handy often.

PLEASE NOTE: You will still call the operator for information, person-to-person calls, collect calls and credit card calls.
